Tsunami (formally tidal wave)

Breakers - A heavy ocean-wave which breaks violently into foam against a rocky coast or in passing over reefs or shallows. Breakers ahead! ‘the common pass-word to warn the officer of broken water in the direction of the course’.

A ‘combing’ wave, a long curling wave, a breaker

Roller -18. A long, swelling wave, moving with a steady sweep or roll. Also fig.

Metropolis - The chief town or city of a country (occas. of a province or district), esp. the one which is the seat of government; a capital. In extended use: any large, bustling city.

Megapolis - A chief or capital city; (gen.) a large city. Occas. as a name applied to such a city. Also in extended use.

Megalopolis - A very large or principal city, a metropolis (occas. as a proper name); (now sometimes) spec. a continuous urban sprawl formed from the expansion of adjoining cities. Also: the way of life characteristic of such a city. Occas.: the practice of building large cities.

Cosmopolis - The (capital) city of the world; a cosmopolitan city or community.

thoroughfare - A road, street, lane, or path forming a communication between two other roads or streets, or between two places; a public way unobstructed and open at both ends; esp. a main road or street, a highway.

broadway - A wide open road or highway, as opposed to a narrow lane or byway. From the former practice of treating it as a compound, it has often come to be the proper name of a street, as the Broadway in New York, Hammersmith, Stratford-le-Bow, etc.

boulevard - A broad street, promenade, or walk, planted with rows of trees. Chiefly applied to streets of this kind in Paris, or to others which it is intended to compare to them. Now freq. (esp. in U.S.), a wide or well laid-out street or avenue.

Avenue - The chief approach to a country-house, usually bordered by trees; hence, any broad roadway bordered or marked by trees or other objects at regular intervals. Sometimes used of the trees alone, with tacit disregard of the road they overshadow.

4. A fine wide street. (Used esp. in U.S.)
